General Information and Instructions to Contributors

THE PAVLOVIAN JOURNAL OF BIOLOGICAL SCIENCE is a quarterly publication containing articles pertaining to empirical, theoretical, review, apparatus, and historical topics.

1. Manuscripts may be mailed to F. J. McGuigan, Editor, United States International University, 10455 Pomerado Road, San Diego, CA 92131, or they may be mailed directly to the appropriate Associate Editor as specified on the masthead. Submission of a manuscript to this journal implies that it has not been simultaneously submitted elsewhere or previously published.

2. All manuscripts should be submitted in triplicate, double spaced throughout and typed with a 1½ inch margin on all sides. Manuscripts should rarely exceed 16 typewritten pages.

3. Each manuscript should be accompanied with a lead abstract not exceeding 250 words.

4. The full name, academic or professional affiliation and complete address of each author should be included on a separate title page.

5. Experimental papers should have the following subdivisions: Introduction, Method, Participants, Apparatus, Procedure, Results, Discussion, and Conclusion. Footnotes, rarely used, should be typed on a separate page.

6. The author(s) should submit, on a separate page, a running title not to exceed 40 letters and spaces.

7. Table(s) should be typed (double spaced) on separate pages and designed for printing horizontally on the page. The tables, and appropriate headings, should be numbered in Arabic numerals and referred to in the text as Table 1, Table 2, etc.

8. Figures should be submitted as glossy prints. Photoreproductions, such as Xerox, will suffice as duplicate copies. Illustrations should be identified by using Arabic numbers and referred to in the text as Fig. 1, Fig. 2, etc. The author's name and figure number should be clearly marked in light pencilling on the back of all glossy prints. Figure captions, one for each figure, should be typed on a separate page.

9. Probability levels for statistical tests should be reported according to whether they were less than or greater than the level of alpha set by the experimenter. Hence, if alpha was set at 0.05, the computed probability should be stated either as "$P < 0.05$" or "$P > 0.05$" and not, for instance, as "$P < 0.0001$."

10. References in the text are cited by placing the author's surname and year of publication within parentheses. References must be typed double spaced on a separate sheet(s) and listed alphabetically according to author surname. References are not numbered, and should be listed as follows:

Brogden, W. J. Effects of change in the [illegible] of reinforcement in the maintenance of conditioned flex[illegible] responses in dogs. Journal of Experimental Psychology [illegible] 1941, 29, 49–57.

Journals are not to be abbreviated.

References to books should be listed as follows:

Fuller, J. L., and Thompson, W. R. Behavior Genetics. New York: Wiley, 1960.

References to a chapter in a book are indicated as follows:

Richter, C. P. The phenomenon of unexplained sudden death in animals and man. In W. H. Gantt (Ed.), Physiological Bases of Psychiatry. Springfield, Ill.: Charles C Thomas, 1958.

11. Reprints may be ordered by using the reprint form which accompanies proofs from the publisher.

12. Lack of adherence to these directions may delay publication.

13. In view of the Copyright Revision Act of 1976, effective January 1, 1978, all transmittal letters to the editor must contain the following language before manuscripts can be reviewed for possible publication: "In consideration of the journal THE PAVLOVIAN JOURNAL OF BIOLOGICAL SCIENCE taking action in reviewing and editing my (our) submission, the author(s) undersigned hereby transfers, assigns, or otherwise conveys all copyright ownership to the J. B. Lippincott Company in the event that such work is published in the journal THE PAVLOVIAN JOURNAL OF BIOLOGICAL SCIENCE."

Manuscripts which are authored by U.S. government employees are excepted from the requirement of the preceding paragraph if they constitute works of the U.S. government. Under copyright law, a work of authorship prepared by an officer or employee of the U.S. government as part of that person's official duties is in the public domain and is not subject to copyright protection. All manuscripts constituting such works of the U.S. government which are submitted to THE PAVLOVIAN JOURNAL OF BIOLOGICAL SCIENCE (or their accompanying transmittal letters) should not contain the language quoted in the preceding paragraph but must contain the following language instead, accompanied by the signature(s) of the author(s), before they can be considered for possible publication: "The submitted manuscript is a work of authorship prepared as part of my (our) official duties as an officer or employee of the U.S. government and is therefore in the public domain."
